This villa is incredible, but it won't look its best in photos because it wasn't renovated for sale. The house is exactly as it is, with all its authentic charm, so it needs someone who knows its value and is willing to restore it. To give you an idea of what can be done, we created some AI-powered images showing how it could look with a new concept. First option: developers. An exceptional opportunity for real estate professionals, given the growing demand in Santiago de la Ribera. The expansive 1,460 m² plot allows for the demolition of the existing villa and the construction of multiple modern homes. ...(Ask for More Details!)
